The Condition of The S. & P. Turnpike (Andrew L. Jones.)

It is to be hoped that the next general assembly will amend the statute concerning the Staunton and Parkersburg turnpike so as to make the superintendent thereof liable to indictment for failure to require the contractors to keep the road worked up to specifications. The criticism of the people who travel the pike is not enough. Criticism and complaint is the only resort we have. They are factors to be reckoned with but in this case they do no good. The superintendent is content to draw his pay and let the contractors draw pay and work they do not do and the board of supervisors are content to draw their pay for the time actually expended in executing the duties of their office and to draw pay in excess of the amount allowed by law and let the pike go unmolested, unworked and with the people's money expended on it uselessly.

The contractors have given a bond for the faithful performance of their duties and the citizens of the county by bringing suit on these bonds have a chance to secure the refund of this expenditure of the county's funds on roads for work which is not done, but it is hoped that this will not have to be done. Let the officials go to work and have the pike worked up to the specifications adopted by the board of supervisors. Let the contractors know that they will not receive any pay until they comply with their contracts. If they begin now the roads can be worked up yet and put in condition so that they will no longer be a disgrace and the subject of ridicule. A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. When the next quarter of the S. & P. fund is due don't let the contractors have it until they have complied with their contracts. It is foolish to pay the contractors and then sue them on their bonds for failure to comply with their contracts. While the funds are in hand keep them there until it is proper to pay them out.

Retired Georgia Planter's Advice to Kidney Sufferers.

Regarding the wonderful curative merits of my Swamp-Root, I cannot say too much. After suffering severely for three years or more with severe pains caused by weak kidney, I was finally induced to try Swamp-Root through a testimonial I read in one of the newspapers. I was in such a condition that I was obliged to arise from my bed six or eight times every night. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and before it was used I felt so much relief I purchased a one-dollar bottle and by the time it was taken the old pains had left my back and I could sleep all night through. I am a retired planter, 70 years of age, and owing to Mr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root I am in the best of health and feel like a boy. I am always glad to recommend Swamp-Root to those who are in need of it.

Sincerely yours,
C. E. USSERY,
Bowersville, Ga.

Personally appeared before me, this 8th of September, 1909, C. E. USSERY, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

21 DEAD, 40 HURT IN R. R. WRECK

Express Crashes Into Wooden Pullmans on Train.

BRAKES FAILED TO WORK

Accident Occurred During a Fog Near
New Haven, Conn.—Several Victims
From Philadelphia.

Twenty-one persons lost their lives and forty were injured when the White Mountain express, bound for New York, crashed into the rear end of the second section of the Bar Harbor limited, bearing sojourners from Maine summer resorts. The wreck occurred on the New Haven railroad just outside New Haven, Conn.

Failure to see a block signal veiled in a thick fog is given as the cause of the accident by Engineer A. B. Miller, who says that as soon as he realized the danger he did all he could to stop the train. The brakes would not hold on the wet track and the train, running down grade, ploughed its way through two wooden Pullman cars, splintered them to kindling and killed or wounded most of the sleeping passengers in their berths. The bodies of most of the victims were mangled.

A party of boy campers, sixty-five in number, returning from "Camp Cobbesee," at Monmouth, Me., were in a Pullman car which was overturned. Two of these boys, William Altschul, of Norfolk, Va., and Albert Green, of New York, were killed.

The list of dead is as follows:
Miss Maria Stockton Bullitt, Miss Harriet Bidle, S. Crozer Fox, Robert M. Yahn, Daniel N. McQuillen, Miss Emily K. Davis, all of Philadelphia.
William Altschul, Norfolk, Va.
Harold Avery, New York.
Frank Butler, Scranton, Pa.
Albert Green, New York.
R. A. Hotchkiss, New Haven, Conn.
Philo Hotchkiss, brother of R. A. Hotchkiss.

Harry Imar, a Japanese, New York.
H. F. Martin, Bryn Mawr, Pa.
Miss Agnes White, Boston.
Mary Jane (no last name), Hartford, Conn.
Margaret Armstrong, Washington.
Albert Fred, New York.
George Kozza, New York.

The bodies of some of the dead were found fifty feet away in the fields. Some of the dead and injured were hurried to New Haven, Wallingford and Meriden. Many of them were taken in trolley cars.

Both trains were heavily laden with returning excursionists. They were running behind time through the heavy fog.
The Bar Harbor limited had stopped in the block, but the last car of the long train was just on the edge of the block limits. The signals had cleared and the express had gotten under a slight headway when the White Mountain train crashed into it. The engine of the latter was unable to stop his locomotive and crashed completely through two of the sleepers on the Bar Harbor train and knocked the next sleeper over the embankment.

The shock of the collision was so terrific that linen and bed clothing from the berths in the sleepers was swept out of the broken windows and carried to the telegraph wires and poles nearby, where it still hung when the wrecking trains arrived.

The White Mountain express was scarcely scratched by the collision. It proceeded on its way after a few hours delay.

All the passengers were in their berths and in their night clothes, making identification of the dead difficult.

The engineer of the White Mountain express stuck to his post until the last moment and was only slightly hurt. The two sleepers which were crushed were a mass of splinters a few minutes after the accident. The locomotive ran on top of the wreckage and remained almost upright for a considerable time.

The collision occurred on a straight stretch of track, but the fog was very dense at the time.

Babies need a perfect skin-covering. Skin eruptions cause them not only intense suffering, but hinder their growth. Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment can be relied on for relief and permanent cure of suffering babies whose skin eruptions have made their life miserable. ## LOSS OF LIFE IN STORM HEAVY

Death Follows in the Wake of Southern Hurricane.

PROPERTY LOSS $3,000,000

Coast of North Carolina Swept by Fierce Gale and Thousands of Dollars Damage Done to Shipping.

Property valued at more than $3,000,000 is reported to have been destroyed and rumors are current of a heavy loss of life as the result of the destructive storm which swept along the North Carolina coast.

No confirmation was obtainable of the reported loss of 500 lives at Ocracoke island off the Carolina coast. Unsubstantiated rumors continued to be current that all inhabitants of the island had perished when heavy waves swept their homes. Efforts to reach even the coast towns near Ocracoke failed, wires being down over the adjacent section and wireless stations, presumably wrecked by the storm, irresponsible to their calls.

While direct communication was lacking, travelers arriving from the southeastern portions of the state said they did not believe Ocracoke caught the most severe part of the blow, and there was every probability that the loss of life on the island, if any, was small.

The greatest damage to property occurred in Beaufort county, and havoc was wrought among the fishing craft in the Pamlico river. In Washington business houses and manufacturing plants along the water front were partially destroyed. The total damage in this county alone is estimated at $2,000,000.

The fury of the gale was centered upon the towns along the Pamlico sound, among these being Morehead City, Beaufort, Newbern, Washington, Bayboro, Belhaven and a score of smaller places. A deluge of rain accompanied the wind and the tide in Pamlico sound was many feet above the ordinary high water mark.

The six-masted schooner George W. Wells, which went ashore south of Hatteras, has gone to pieces. The twenty men, two women and two infants rescued from the schooner Wells, after great difficulty by the life savers, are being temporarily cared for in the vicinity of the Ocracoke inlet and Durant life saving stations.

The schooner reported ashore three miles north of Ocracoke is believed to have been the schooner Annie R. Heldtitter, heretofore reported drifting helplessly eight miles southwest of Diamond shoals with her rudder broken and otherwise disabled. The revenue cutter Seminole is proceeding to the schooner's assistance.

An unknown oil ship reported ashore below Ocracoke was still unidentified. The United States east coast telegraph lines from Cape Henry are working only as far south as Hatteras, and no information had reached that point which would lead to the identity of the steamer.

At Beaufort, N. C., many small craft were capsized or smashed against the harbor breakwater, over which the seas were running. Mail boats from Core sound reported that all were destroyed, many houses blown down and hundreds of cattle and horses drowned.

No loss of life was reported in this section.

She was overjoyed and shook hands with the members of the jury and her counsel and friends in the court room. She was charged with shooting her father through the heart March 28. It was at first thought to be suicide, but suspicion rested against her. The evidence submitted was purely circumstantial.

FORMER KING MANUEL WEDS

Portugal's Dethroned Ruler Is Married to German Princess.

COUPLE GET COSTLY GIFTS

Ceremony Took Place in Castle of Bride's Father, Prince William, of Hohenzollern — Enormous Crowds
Feast at Tables Set Along Roadways.

To an accompaniment of pomp commonly associated with royalty, former King Manuel of Portugal was married to Princess Augustina Victoria of Hohenzollern in the castle of the bride's father at Sigmaringen, Germany.

The ceremonies, which followed the Roman Catholic ritual, were conducted by Cardinal Netto, former archbishop patriarch of Lisbon.

There was a brilliant gathering of princes and princesses. Among them were the prince of Wales, representing King George of England; Prince Eitel Friedrich, representing Emperor William of Germany; Prince and Princess Henry XXIII of Reuss; Princess Friedrich of Hohenzollern; Princess Carroll and Princess Elizabeth. Also the Duke of Mont Penaria, who declined to be King of Albania; Queen Mother Amelie of Portugal; the Infante and Infanta Carlos of Spain, representing King Alfonso; the Duke and Duchess of Coburg, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden; the Duke of Oporto, of Portugal, uncle of ex-King Manuel; the Duke and Duchess of Aosta of Italy, representing King Victor Emmanuel; Prince William of Hohenzollern, father of the bride, and Count August Eulenburg, grand marshal to the reigning Hohenzollern family in Germany.

Enormous crowds of townsfolk and strangers began gathering around the castle early in the day. Prince William had great tables set along the roadway, filled with good things to eat and drink, and all were invited to help themselves.

Before the religious rites a civil ceremony was conducted by Count August Eulenburg, who is empowered to conduct such functions by reason of the high office he holds.

Princess Augustina was given away by her father. Four royal princesses were bridesmaids. The bride wore a white satin gown, with a long train and trimmed with lace which had been in the family for many decades. Sigmaringen Castle is a picturesque spot, setting high on a rocky promontory above the Danube. From its windows can be seen a mighty stretch of uplands, running down to the wooded banks of the Danube, so old in song and story.

The wedding gifts cost a fortune. The Royalists of Portugal collected $20,000 and sent some handsome plate. The groom presented his bride with a costly string of pearls. King George and Queen Mary of England sent a silver dinner service, and Queen Mother Alexandra of England sent a gold wine service.

Although ex-King Manuel and his bride are bound by blood ties, the relationship is somewhat distant and offered no obstacle to the marriage. The paternal grandmother of Princess Augustina Victoria was the Infanta Antonia of Portugal, sister of Manuel's grandfather, King Luis of Portugal.

The princess is the only daughter of Prince William, head of the non-reigning line of Hohenzollerns, who live in Sualia, in southern Germany, and still adhere to the Catholic faith. The relationship between this line of Hohenzollerns and the line of which the kaiser is the head is very remote, and it is necessary to go back hundreds of years to trace it. The Hohenzollerns of Sualia and the Prussian branch of the family have not intermarried to any great extent, most of the Sualian Hohenzollern alliances having been with the Spanish and French nobility and royalty.

Manuel was born November 15, 1889, and hence is a year and a half older than his bride. While he was sitting on the throne of Portugal it was believed he would marry an English girl. In the fall of 1909, on a trip to England, it was expected he would ask for the hand of Princess Patricia of Connaught or of Alexandra, the present Duchess of Fife, who will be married to Prince Arthur of Connaught in October. There was also a rumor of the possibility of his marriage to the daughter of the kaiser, who recently married the heir of the Duke of Cumberland.

The castle at Sigmaringen, the home of the bride and scene of the wedding ceremony today, was granted to the senior branch of the Hohenzollerns by Emperor Charles V in 1534. It had previously belonged to the De Montfort and Werdenberg families, both of which became extinct. Manuel was married on Portuguese soil, for a sack of earth had been sent from Lisbon for him to stand on during the ceremony.

THE DUNSMORE BUSINESS COLLEGE STAUNTON - VIRGINIA

Begins its Forty-Second Session September 2nd, 1913.

Before deciding which of the many schools you will patronize, send for our free catalogue. It will give you an account of the hundreds of young men and women who have graduated at the school and are now holding lucrative positions of trust, such as bookkeepers, cashiers, and presidents of banks, superintendents and managers of other large corporations.

The Dunsmore School offers its patrons advantages that cannot be had at other institutions of like character in the country.

The Dunsmore is one of the pioneer Business Colleges of the South, and has the reputation of being one of the most thorough, up-to-date schools for educating and training young men and women to meet the business exigencies and responsibilities of a business life.

This statement is evidenced by the fact that all of the banks and nearly all of the business houses of its home city have in their employ graduates from this school. Its reputation for thorough and practical preparation of its students extends from ocean to ocean, from Canada to Cuba, and even to the Philippine Islands. Hundreds of its young men are doing official and clerical work in the wealthy coal fields and lumber districts of West Virginia and Pennsylvania at salaries from $50 to $300 per month.

So great is this reputation, that telegrams and letters are received nearly every week in the year from coal and other operators, saying: "Send bookkeeper or stenographer at once." Concerning this statement, inquire of the manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, Staunton, Va.

The management and faculty of the Dunsmore know how to prepare young men and women to meet the wants of business men.

The reason why young men and women patronize the Dunsmore is because of its reputation and the opportunity they have after graduation for securing lucrative employment.

The management does not promise positions to its graduates in order to secure patronage. However, on account of its many graduates all over the country who are ever ready to place a Dunsmore student, it could be done. The greater number of applications for graduates to fill positions come from and through our former students who made good while in the school and have lived up to the motto, "I will make good," ever since.

The rules and regulations and the discipline of our school help students to make good. Send for a catalogue NOW.
